Most Memorable ADOHTA Moment

The amalgamation of the various state and territory dental therapy and hygiene associations into a national body which resulted in improved communication, effective advocacy and a wide and shared pool of expertise and education.

What was the most significant change within the profession during your involvement with ADOHTA?

Over my 40 years working in private practices I consider the recognition of the Associate Diploma to a Bachelor of Oral Health Degree to be of particular significance as it recognised the discrete skills and experience that we therapists brought to the broader dental profession.

Brief Outline of your career and achievements:

I graduated in 1979 and throughout my entire career I have worked in general private practices. While working part time I also undertook clinical tutoring in dental hygiene at Curtin University from 2007 to 2009.
